

KNIGHT LIFE

TASSELS TURNED, FUTURES EARNED

After a day filled with downpours and unpredictable showers, the decision was made to hold Graduation 2025 in the new gym. Filled with excitement, anticipation, and some nerves, the senior class was ushered into the jubilant crowd by the combined Jr./Sr. band playing "Pomp and Circumstance". Members of the Senior High Chorus sang a moving rendition of the National Anthem followed by a moment of silence.

This year, each member of the class was given a pillar of the LL Mission to speak about in their remarks. Class President Nicco Diana spoke of generosity. Diana spoke on the importance of knowing the stories of others. He stated, "Find a reason to be generous." He stated the need to listen to others and to think before we speak. He concluded that the greatest legacy is how we treat people around us.

Next, Salutatorian and Student Council President Landen Aritz spoke on the pillars of community and independence. His remarks included reminding his classmates to thank those in their communities for supporting them through their journeys. He asked them to recall their memories made within their communities, whether it was in a study hall, a lunch table, or on a team. He stated that wearing the gown was a testament to your achievements. His lasting remark to his classmates included, "Go worth knowing your worth--knowing your strength. Character defines you."

Valedictorian Cassidy Gallagher spoke on her personal experiences of mastery. She recalled a car accident and the importance of keeping perspective and not judging others. She encouraged her classmates to give the gift of compassion and kindness. She shared this advice, “get to know others by sharing personal experiences, and be other people’s sunshine.”

Graduates received diplomas to applause and an air horn for Fionn Ellis that caused the faculty to jump scare. Mr. McGovern shared his congratulations. He recognized students who opted to join the military and thanked them for their commitment to serve.

He reminded all, “Education is not preparation for life. Education is life itself.” He noted that our LL footprint is expanding with seniors attending colleges and universities throughout the United States. The “tiny but mighty community” is “marking its mark!”

A confetti cannon and jubilant seniors dismissed themselves in an impromptu recessional, greeted by family and friends to “Glorioso”.

The Knight Walk

One of our most beloved traditions at Lake-Lehman is the Knight Walk. It is a bittersweet reminder of our youth. The seniors travel to their respective elementary schools including Lehman-Jackson, Lake Noxen and Ross where they walk the halls one last time. They are able to see some of their first and favorite teachers. Elementary students line the hallways with excited applause and dreams of being a graduate someday.

CLASS OF 2025 WASHINGTON DC TRIP

Mollie Kuhar, Senior

The Senior class took their annual trip to Washington DC this past April! Many monuments, museums, and attractions were familiar to the chaperones, but they were all new to the class of 2025. The seniors departed Lake Lehman early morning on April 25, watching the sunrise from the bus as they began their trip to the nation's capital.

After a five-hour drive to the District of Columbia, the class of 2025 ate lunch at the Ronald Regan Center and then visited the National Mall. Seniors toured several museums and attractions, including the Museum of Natural History, Native American History, and American History. Other attractions the seniors saw include shopping at the Pentagon Mall, taking a class picture at the US Capitol Building, touring the Holocaust Museum, visiting Mount Vernon, etc. Some of the memorials the students visited were the Vietnam, Korean, and WW2 War Memorials, the Lincoln Memorial, the FDR Memorial, the Jefferson Memorial, etc. On the final day before the senior's departure, they visited the Arlington National Cemetery and witnessed the Changing of The Guards at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

The seniors returned to Lehman, with many memories and experiences on not only their ⁶classmates and chaperones, but also with a reflection on the importance of our nation's history.

Senior and Graduation Ceremony Awards

During the graduation ceremony, three awards were given to deserving senior class members. The Red Jones Leadership Award was awarded to Landen Artiz and Cassidy Gallagher. The Citizenship Award was awarded to Giada Ward and Gavin Shoemaker. The James L. Nicholas Memorial Scholarship was awarded to Kirsten Finarelli.

On 5/30, Seniors were honored at the Senior Awards Ceremony with scholarships and awards. Some of the awards included community scholarships from the Elementary Schools, Community Members, School Clubs, and awards from the High School Departments.
